

Hooray for Books Explodes!! Into Science

November 11, 2008 — Taking a break from our usual reading based classes with a side of cooking at Hooray for Books, the theme today was Explode into Science. While in the lab/kitchen today we whipped up some explosive stuff using the book Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs as a springboard. We made our own incredible geyser outside, figured out that gravity is a force stronger than humans, and performed a balancing act among other experiments! Other one day camps are being offered on Wed. 12/3 (Breakfast in Bed), Sat. 12/6 (Gingerbread Galore), and Mon. Dec 29th (Ring in the New Year).

~ "Doctor" Mary Murphy
Contributed content.